Reset Button
The HDMI Audio/Video Splitter has a built-in reset button. Press this button if the audio/video source from your HDMI-enabled video source device is disrupted or lost on any of the connected HDMI-enabled video display devices.

EDID Emulation
This splitter features EDID emulation enabling you to choose the best video source settings available from any of your connected displays.
The EDID video source settings are selected based on the first port that the switch detects the use of beginning with port 1. Once the EDID display settings are defined all other EDID information from additional display(s) will be ignored. Please follow the below steps to specify your EDID selection.

1. Disconnect the power source to the splitter.
2. Determine which display has the preferred EDID settings to be shared with your video source.
3. Plug your preferred EDID display into port 1 of your HDMI splitter and ensure this display remains connected at all times.
4. Connect your remaining displays to the splitter, and power the splitter back on.
The EDID settings have now been set.

Note: If the splitter is rebooted or loses power, EDID settings will be rescanned and reselected. To avoid this scenario causing your preferred EDID settings to be lost, it is recommended you connect your preferred EDID display to Port 1 at all times.
